Our client, a leading investment fund, is further expanding its investment team this summer following an excellent start to the year. The fund boasts impressive returns over many years alongside a strategically growing team. As such, our client is keen to add a specific investment professional in 2025.

Working alongside a number of well-respected investment professionals as part of a global distressed debt and special situations mandate, the successful candidate will:

- Focus on originating, analysing and executing investments across the capital structure
- Global focus including LATAM, CEEMEA and MENA regions across corporates, quasi-sovereigns and sovereign debt
- Produce and pitch investment ideas to the investment committee and portfolio management team
- Work closely with the trading team to originate and source investments, whilst working alongside the other investment professionals on EM credit opportunities

This opportunity will allow the successful candidate to join an impressive hedge fund in London, whilst sitting close to key investment decisions. The successful candidate will have demonstrable experience analysing and researching emerging market debt situations, whilst possessing strong communication skills.
